

Hospitality Interiors

INTERIOR DESIGN FOR HOTELS, RESTAURANTS, BARS & CLUBS

Issue 72 | July - August 2017

Printed Light® by Barrisol®

THIS ISSUE

20 Opening Shots

32 Q&A

Celia Chu, principal and visionary of her eponymous interior design firm, talks about her formative influences, why The Guggenheim Museum inspires her use of artwork, and the exciting projects she has in the pipeline.

38 Projects

- 38 The Ned
- 48 The Curtain
- 52 Fairmont Quasar Istanbul
- 56 Hotel Le Bailli de Suffren
- 60 The Half Moon
- 64 STK Toronto
- 68 Tamarind Kitchen
- 70 Cambria LAX
- 72 Skylight
- 73 Absurd Bird

74 Installations

32

38

80

103

76 Guest room -
In Conversation

Robert Lancaster Gaye, the co-founder of Tradelinens, speaks to Hospitality Interiors about the role of linen within guest room design.

102 Lighting

We round up the latest launches from the likes of Nulty, willowlamp, Victoria + Albert Baths and Perrin & Rowe.

120 Hardware & Fittings

124 Products

148 Events

PUBLISHER

Nigel Gearing

EDITORIAL DIRECTOR

John Legg - 01424 776104
john@gearingmediagroup.com

EDITOR

Gemma Ralph - 01424 774982
gemma.ralph@gearingmediagroup.com

EDITORIAL

Victoria Noakes
Proof reader Keith Fitz-Hugh

MARKETING & SALES DIRECTOR

Travis Posthumus - 01424 776103
travis@gearingmediagroup.com

PRODUCTION MANAGER

James Ash - 01424 775304
james@gearingmediagroup.com

PRODUCTION

Stephanie Reading - 01424 775304
stephanie@gearingmediagroup.com

Nathan Khan (digital content)

01424 775304
nathan@gearingmediagroup.com

COPY ADMINISTRATOR

Steve Merrick - 01424 776108
production@gearingmediagroup.com

ACCOUNTS

Wendy Williams - 01424 774982
wendy@gearingmediagroup.com
creditcontrol@gearingmediagroup.com

SUBSCRIPTIONS

subscriptions@gearingmediagroup.com

PRINT & DISTRIBUTION

Acorn Web Offset Ltd

© Gearing Media Group Ltd 2017

ISSN No: 1745-0233

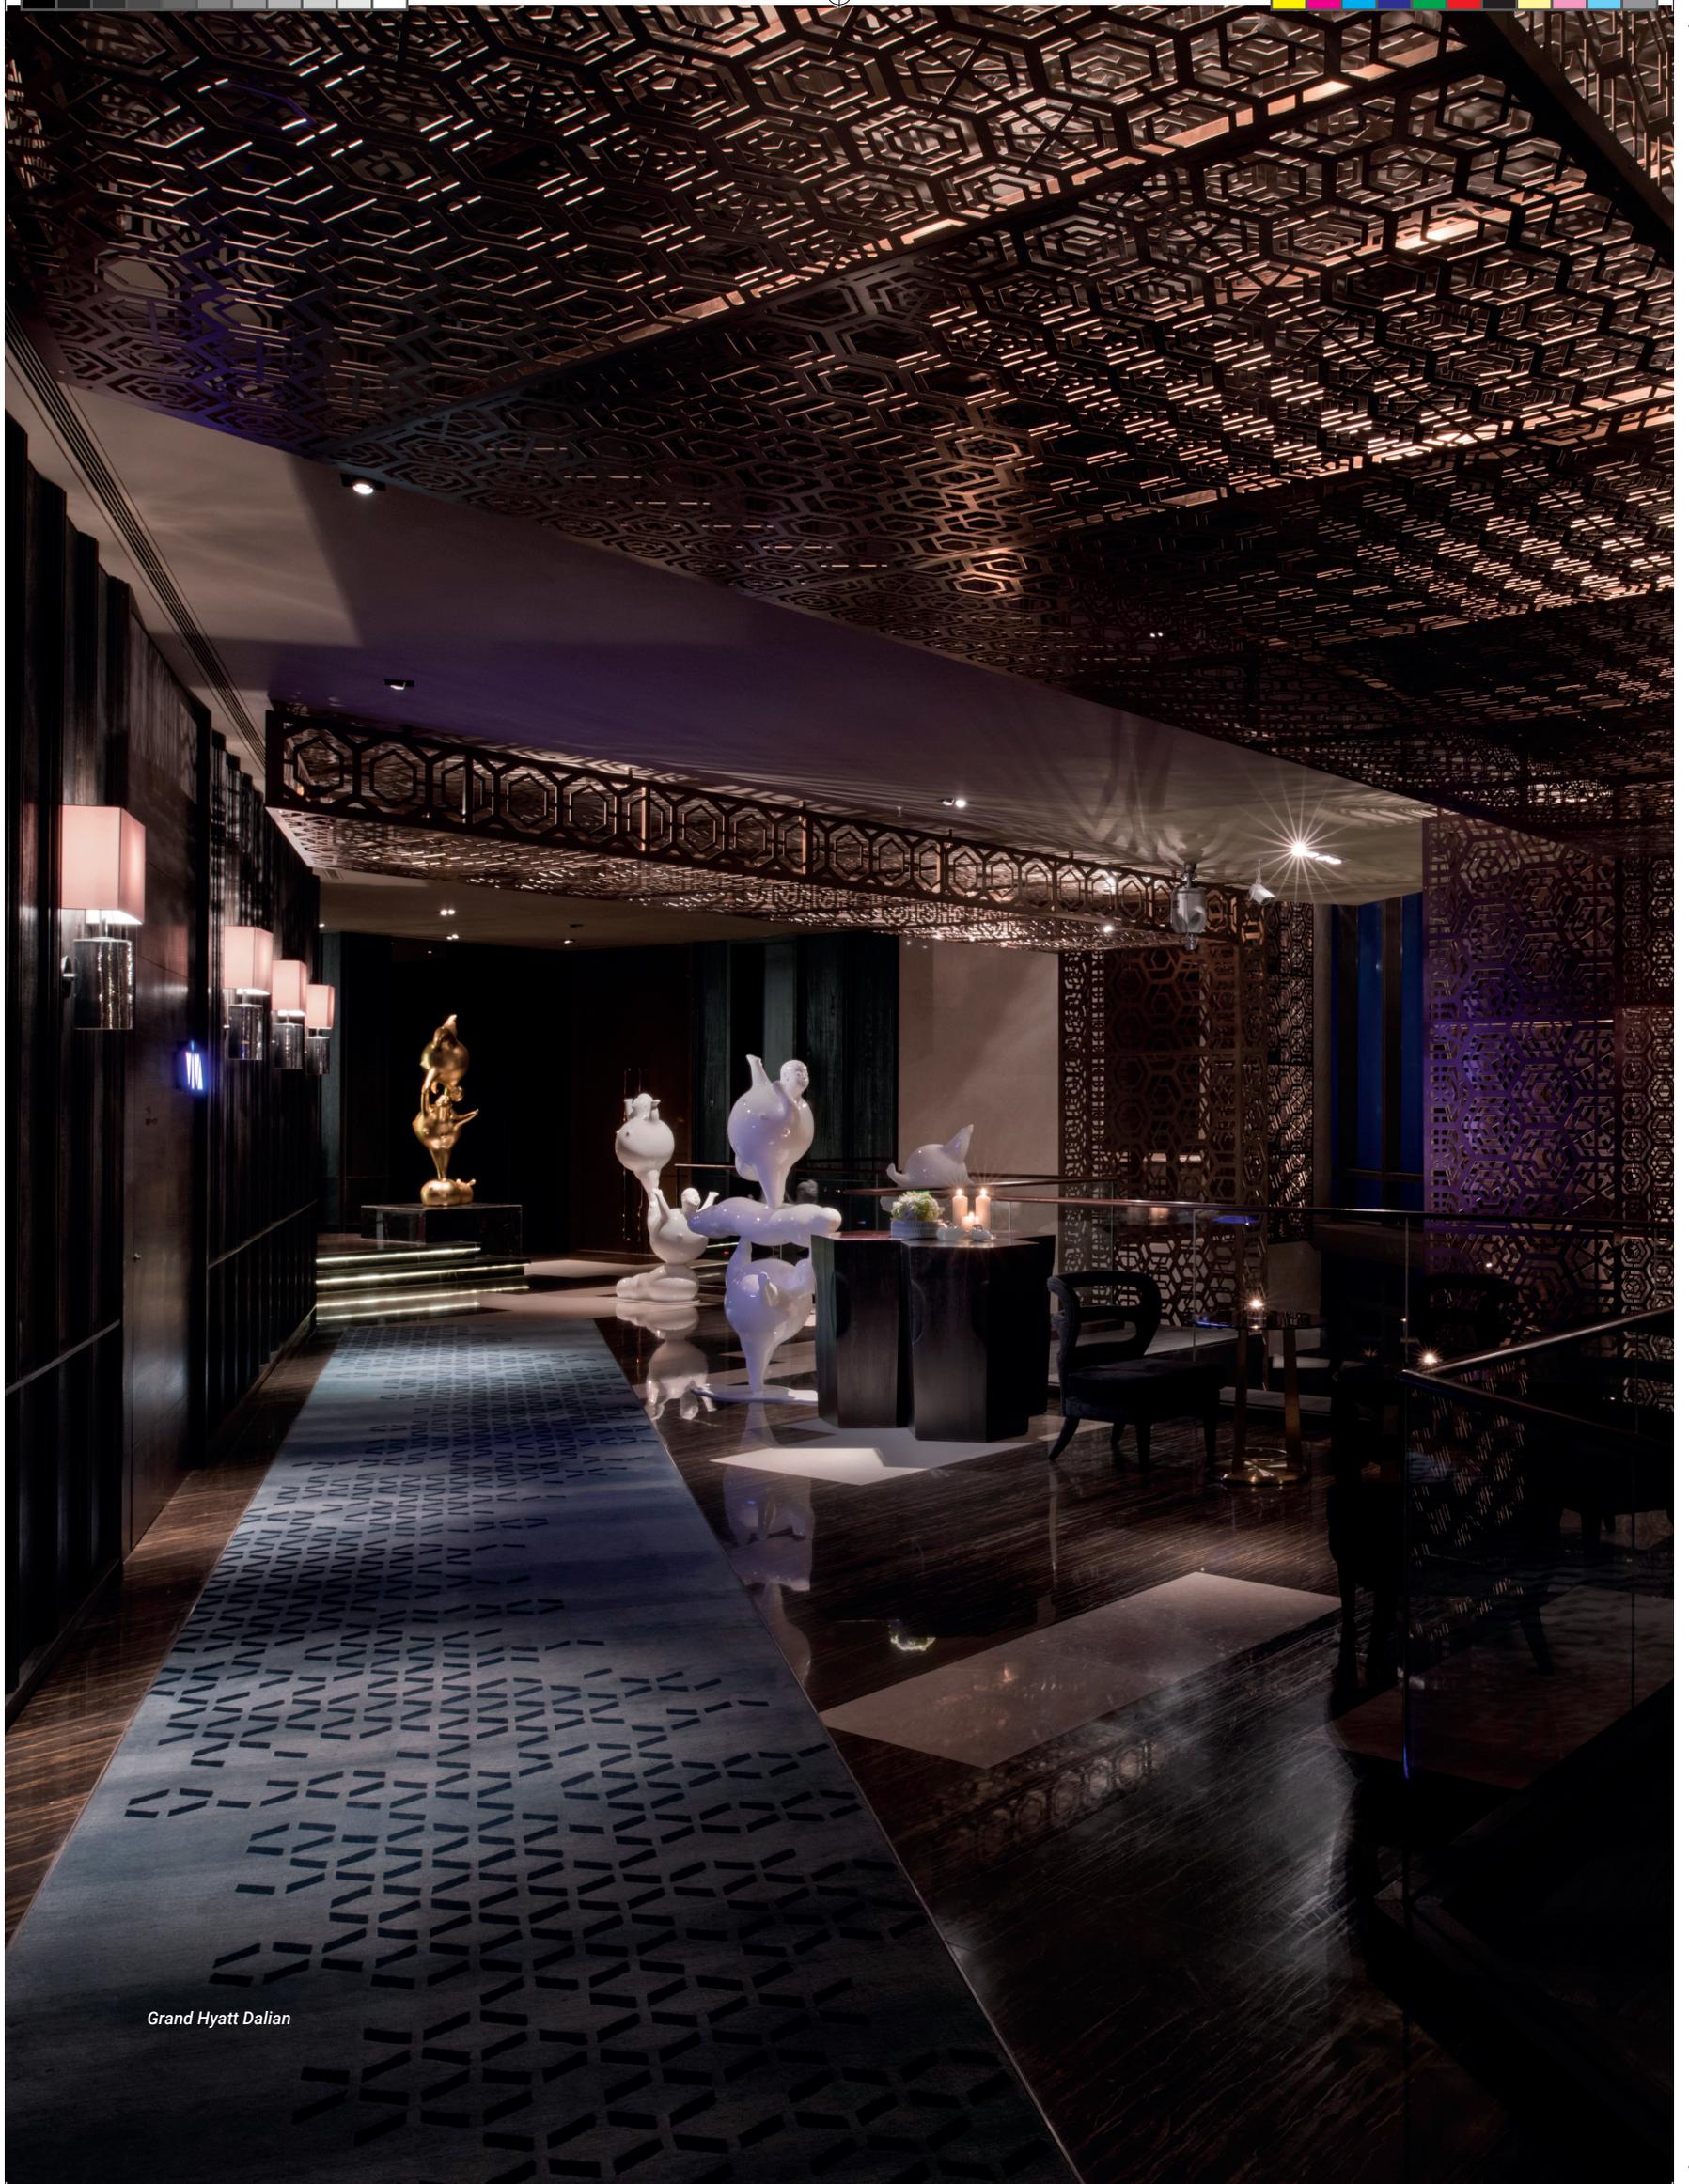

Gearing Media Group Ltd, 4 Red Barn Mews,
High Street, Battle, East Sussex TN33 0AG, UK

www.gearingmediagroup.com

DISCLAIMER: All material submitted for inclusion in Hospitality Interiors is done so entirely at the contributor's own risk. No responsibility is accepted for the safe-keeping of contributors' materials. Whilst all attempts are made to ensure accurate reproduction, Hospitality Interiors accepts no responsibility for variations. Artwork undertaken by our studio remains the copyright of Gearing Media Group Ltd and may not be reproduced or stored without prior permission. Some articles in Hospitality Interiors have been submitted by companies and organisations. Monies may have been accepted in some instances to offset production costs. All rights reserved. In respect of artwork originated free of charge as part of a booking, clients should know that excessive work (more than one set of corrections, known as 'authors corrections') is chargeable at £55 per hour.

DATA PROTECTION STATEMENT: Readership data held by Gearing Media Group Ltd may be shared with any member of the Gearing Media Group Ltd and associated companies for the purposes of customer information, direct marketing or publication. Data may also be made available to external parties on a list rental/lease basis for the purposes of direct marketing. If you do not wish data to be made available to external parties for list rental or lease please write to: Data Protection Co-ordinator, Gearing Media Group Ltd, 4 Red Barn Mews, High Street, Battle, East Sussex TN33 0AG.

SUBSCRIPTIONS: Refunds on cancelled subscriptions will only be provided at the publisher's discretion, unless specifically guaranteed within the terms of the subscription offer.

Grand Hyatt Dalian

Q&A

Celia Chu, Celia Chu Design

As the principal and visionary of her eponymous interior design firm, Celia Chu is renowned for her elegant, rich interiors – ever inspired by her passion for the creative arts. Born and raised in Taipei, Celia has built a distinguished portfolio of national and international clients and is a designated designer for some of the world's major hotel brands. Here, she discusses her formative influences, why The Guggenheim Museum inspires her use of artwork, and the exciting projects she has in store.

Who was inspirational to you early in your career, and why?

Tony Chi, who completed the Grand Hyatt Taipei ten years ago in my hometown of Taipei, which I was very impressed by. It made me want to pursue my dream to study in New York and widen my eyes as a designer. After graduation, I worked for him for a few years, from an intern to a professional. It was the early and insightful chapter of my journey to date.

How would you describe your design approach?

Each project is undertaken with its own unique approach and appropriate narratives that reflect the sensibility and the spirit of our aesthetic. We capture every idea from culture and background, which make our designs unique and hard to copy.

With different clients come different strategies. Above all, the craftsmanship reflecting the culture and the artistic sense is the one key aspect that I like to show in every project.

What would you say has been the biggest professional challenge for you so far?

To be honest, PEOPLE! People have always been the most critical part in my career thus far. I wish I could learn the magic to deal with them all. How to communicate with the clients, with the contractors, with my staff, can be the key to making a project successful or not. I aspire to be a good communicator, whoever I am talking to.

Celia Chu

Q&A

Grand Hyatt Dalian

What is your proudest achievement, as a designer, to date?

I have genuinely enjoyed every project I have completed to date, but if I had to pick one, I would say it would be the 'White Rose Chapel' in Grand Hyatt Fukuoka, Japan. It is the very first time I truly felt that my design could help people and make them happy.

What are the most important creative developments in hospitality design that you have witnessed over the last 15 years and, looking forward, what challenges will designers need to create solutions for?

For the past few years, the trend in high end hospitality has become more and more residence-oriented and localised. I expect to see a lot of design hotels, boutique hotels and luxury hotels responding to the trend towards residential living, and becoming less "hotel-like".

This trend reflects the expectation of people who are stressed and busy and wanting the feeling of home from home when they are away so they can completely relax.

Grand Hyatt Dalian

Crowne Plaza Geneva

Q&A

Please describe your top three interior spaces, from anywhere in the world, and tell us why they resonate with you.

The Pantheon in Rome – its great scale, and the interaction between the space and the natural sunlight moved me deeply when I stood in it for a long time.

The Louvre – I could never see it all. The beautiful details all over the space are breathtaking. I can always be inspired by the combination of the old and the new.

The Guggenheim Museum in New York City – a masterpiece of Frank Lloyd Wright's without a doubt. I loved to spend my leisure time there when I was studying in New York. The way it combines the architecture, the interior and the flow of the exhibition makes it a design classic even to this day. That is one of the reasons that artwork also plays an important role in all of my projects.

Have you got any hospitality projects in the pipeline that you're able to share with us?

We are now working intensely on the Rosewood Hotel, Bangkok. The project has been underway for over four years now and it is expected to open in 2019. It is always exciting to work with them and I am so grateful for their trust and confidence in me and my team.

In the meantime, the renovation of InterContinental Hotel Cairo is in the making, which is my first project in the Middle East, so I look forward to seeing this completed.

Also, I am working on another specialty restaurant of a local brand hotel in Taiwan which is under construction, and expected to be completed in November.

What do you like to do with your downtime?

Recently I've really started to enjoy swimming with my two daughters, one is three years old and the other is one year old. They are my little angels that can swipe my worries and pressures away easily.

I also love to watch movies in my free time. It's a way to develop my inspiration too. I watch any kind of movie because they all tell very different stories to me. To be a successful interior designer is to be like a director – we have to tell a fascinating story which attracts people to want to hear and see our work again and again.

celiachu.com

“To be a successful interior designer is to be like a director – we have to tell a fascinating story which attracts people to want to hear and see our work again and again”

